THE STATE TYPOS

Today's Meeting Closes the Successful Session.

THE NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS.

A Plunge in the Pool—The Banquet Last Night a Grand Success Thanks Tendered—Fort Worth Selected as the Place for the Next Convention.

THE NEWS contained a full account of yesterday's proceedings of this convention up to the time of going to press and to-day takes up the business where it left off, that nothing may be missed.

Mr. H. B. Johnson offered a resolution indorsing the Texas Printer and that it be adopted as the official organ of the printers of Texas. Unanimously adopted.

Mr. J. J. Dirks of Galveston offered a resolution that all local unions in the state be recommended to adopt a law as to apprenticeship something like the following: "That local unions make it the duty of their executive committee to examine all persons who may enter upon apprenticeship, and shall refuse to allow anyone to enter upon his apprenticeship in the printing or allied trades if they are dissatisfied with his education; that the said executive committee shall hold the private examination for all applicants for full membership as to their competency in setting tables, advertisements, book work, newspaper and job work, if they apply as printers, and in like manner if they be pressmen, press feeders, stereotypers, etc."

Mr. J. S. England of Waco extended an invitation to the visiting members to visit the auditorium at 8 o'clock and a banquet at 10 o'clock at Lehman's.

Upon motion the invitation was accepted with thanks. The convention then adjourned to meet at 9:30 this morning.

A PLUNGE IN THE POOL.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the visiting delegates, escorted by the reception committee and others, congregated at the corner of Franklin and Fourth streets where they took cars for the park auditorium. Arriving there they were not long in testing the virtue of Waco's delightful hot water, of which they are lavish in its praise. The scene in the pool was an imposing one and the plunge was enjoyed as a company of Texas printers, "out on a lark," only can.

THE BANQUET.

The banquet given to the delegates to the Texas State Typographical Convention by Waco Typographical Union No. 188, was a grand success, exceeded in excellence only by the late Firemen's banquet held at the Coke building.

The long tables were laden with every delicacy of the season, and all ate, drank, and were merry. Mr. C. W. Hurwood acted as master of ceremonies and did himself and Waco great credit.

The first toast proposed was: "The Delegates"—Responded to by Mr. John Fourby, of Galveston.

"The Texas State Union"—Response by Mr. Marsene B. Johnson, of Fort Worth.

"The Texas Printers"—Response by Harry B. Johnson, of Dallas.

"Waco Typographical Union No. 188"—Response by George B. McCracken, of Galveston.

"The Local Reporter"—Responded to by F. T. Morgan and W. P. Linthicum.

"The Press"—Response by M. B. Davis.

"Our Counting Room Friend"—Response by F. R. Sharp.

Many other responses were made but as the hour grew late they became so rapid that THE NEWS reporter, had he possessed the ability of three short-hand reporters, could not have taken it down.

All went as merry as a marriage bell, and the visitors were loud in their praises of the hospitable treatment received at the hands of their fellow-craftsmen of Waco.

The proceedings in the various courts were light. The case of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Company vs. I. Lyons et al. is still on trial in the district court. In the county court a number of convictions were had, those convicted being principally negroes and were fined small amounts for gambling. In the police court Henry Sinclair was fined $5 for vagrancy and Bob Sedberry $2.50 for disturbing the peace.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

The convention was called to order this morning by President Marsene Johnson, at 10 o'clock, with only eighteen members present at roll call.

Upon motion the reading of the minutes were dispensed with for the present.

The committee on laws recommended that the compensation of organizers be engrafted into the constitution, and also important recommendations with reference thereto. Adopted.

The committee on laws reported a set of by-laws, which upon motion of Mr. Johnson, were taken up, read and adopted, amended or rejected seriatim.

The section relating to fixing the time of the next meeting was read and after much discussion that time was fixed for the last Wednesday in May by a vote of 9 to 6.

The reading of the by-laws was continued and finally adopted as a whole.

The committee recommended rules of order and order of business, which were adopted.

The president next declared the election of officers for the ensuing year, in order.

Mr. Murphy, of Dallas, in a nice little speech, placed in nomination the name of Mr. Marsene Johnson, of Fort Worth, for president.

Mr. Johnson was re-elected president unanimously by acclamation.

Mr. John E. Barnes, of Galveston, was nominated and elected vice-president by acclamation.

Mr. Geo. McCracken, of Galveston, was elected secretary-treasurer by acclamation.

Mr. Harry Johnson, of Dallas, was placed in nomination for organizer by Mr. Daniels, of Dallas. The name of Mr. Geo. A. Beach was also placed in nomination, and the ballot ordered prepared.

Mr. Johnson withdrew his name, and Mr. Beach was elected by acclamation.

The election of an executive board, consisting of five new members was declared in order.

A motion that the ballot be prepared, each member voting for five delegates, the five receiving the highest vote to be declared elected, was made and carried.

Mr. Daniels, of Dallas, moved that the former motion be reconsidered. Lost.

The ballot was then ordered prepared and the vote taken, resulting in the election of the following gentlemen as members of the executive board of the Texas State Typographical Union, and was so declared, viz:

Joe Hamilton, of San Antonio; J. J. Dirks, of Galveston; G. S. Berkshire, of Gainesville; P. A. Richards, of Waco; Winter Daniels, of Dallas.

Upon motion the election of the five above named gentlemen was made unanimous.

Upon motion the office of second vice president, a member of the Pressman's Union, was, upon vote being taken, created.

Ollie P. Tucker, of Fort Worth, was elected second vice president.

Moved by Daniels, of Dallas, that this union send three delegates to the meeting of the Federation of Labor to meet at Houston July 3, 1892. The motion was carried.

Upon motion the Houston and Galveston delegates were elected as such delegates, with instructions that they, while attending that body, take no part in any political action that may come up, and that they urge the necessity for appealing to the next legislature of Texas to make Labor Day a legal holiday.

Resolution was offered by Hamilton of San Antonio, asking that the State Union request that the San Antonio union be granted relief, by the way of assisting sick printers who come there for their health, and who are a heavy charge upon said local union; carried.

Mr. C. W. Hurwood arose and invited the delegates to take a carriage ride to view the city this afternoon. Upon motion the invitation was accepted with thanks and that the delegates be requested to remain in the city till the adjournment of the convention sine die.

The time fixed for the carriage ride was 5 o'clock p. m.

The convention then adjourned till 1:15 p. m.

The convention was called to order this afternoon at 1:30 with thirteen delegates present at roll call.

The president then read his address which was well received, and a synopsis of which will appear in THE NEWS tomorrow.

The address was referred to the committee on president's address.

The report of the committee on unfinished business was read and adopted.

A resolution recommending that September 1 of each year be celebrated as labor day was read and adopted.

The committee on thanks reported as follows:

{ HALL OF WACO TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION, No. 188, WACO, May 26, 1892.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Your Committee on Thanks beg leave to submit the following:

The State Typographical Union in convention assembled, extend a vote of thanks to the city of Waco for its unbounded hospitality in according us the keys of the city.

2. To City Attorney John F. Flint, our thanks are due for the eloquent and appropriate address of welcome, and for the good wishes so cordially expressed.

3. To the newspapers of Waco, THE WACO EVENING NEWS, the Evening Telephone and the Waco Day, our thanks are due for the complete reports of our session and kindly co-operation in making the convention a success.

4. That our thanks are due to the committee on laws, Messrs. Beach, Hamilton, Richards, Dirks and Tucker for their painstaking application to their duties and that their patient industry is an example to our officers and members in the performance of their duties.

5. That our thanks are due to the retiring officers for their services during the year and their efforts to perfect the organization.

6. We also beg leave to return a vote of our most hearty thanks to Waco Typographical Union No. 188 for the magnificent manner in which they entertained the delegates in this body and visiting members of the various unions of the state. We beg also to return thanks to the individual members of Waco union for their entertainment and care of delegates and visitors during our intermissions.

JOHN FOURBY,
W. T. CYRUS,
JOHN L. BRYANT,
Committee.

The report was unanimously adopted.

The committee on president's address reported, recommending that the report be referred back to the president for a fuller statement as to the question of apprenticeship. Adopted.

The city of Dallas was placed in nomination by Mr. W. T. Curry as the place to hold the next Texas State convention.

The nomination was seconded by Messrs. Murphy and Harry B. Johnson, of Dallas, in nice little speeches.

Mr. Marsene Johnson moved that Dallas be selected as the place for holding the next convention by a rising vote. Carried.

Mr. Harry Johnson then thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon Dallas.

What Birds Think of Men.

Possibly, now that Professor Garner has directed serious attention to discovering the structure of monkey talk, we may before long have some naturalist translating bird words into English. It is certainly humiliating to find ourselves, after centuries of intercourse with feathered songsters, still such aliens to each other. What an average bird thinks of an average man it is difficult even to conceive.

To the mind of a grouse, man is a giant with an iron stick that shoots out death. To a caged canary he must appear an amiable lunatic, whose only idea of language is to say: "Twee, twee!" but who, if in a pleasant humor, may perhaps offer a bit of grouse or a lump of sugar.

We prefer not to consider what opinion a wild lark who has been snared on its own hillside forms of its captor, who shuts it up in a cage about nine inches square and keeps it in a stuffy, gaslighted shop.—London Telegraph.

A Daring Rescue.

The Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald of May 17 contains a very glowing account of a daring rescue of a prisoner from the hands of a mob at Eutaw, Alabama by Deputy Sheriff E. C. Meredith. Mr. Meredith is a brother of Mr. E. Meredith who has lived at Crawford for many years and is well known in the county.
